Use of Funds

Schools should use this funding for specific activities to support their pupils to catch up for lost teaching over the previous months, in line with the guidance in curriculum expectations for the next academic year.

Schools have the flexibility to spend their funding in the best way for their cohort and circumstance.

To support schools to make the best use of funding, the Education Endowment Foundation (EEF) has published a support guide for schools with evidence based approaches to catch up for all students. Schools should use this document to help them direct their additional funding in the most effective way.

This could include :

- Small group work
- One to one tuition
- Extra teaching capacity.

To support school implement their catch- up plans effectively, EEF has published the school planning guide: 2020-2021. This will provide further guidance on how schools should implement catch- up strategies and supporting case studies to highlight effective practice.

Accountability and Monitoring

As will all government funding, school leaders must be able to account for how this money is being used to achieve our central goals of getting back on track and teaching a normal curriculum as quickly as possible. Given their role in ensuring schools spend funding appropriately and in holding school to account for educational performance, governors should scrutinise approaches to catch–up from September, including their plans for use of catch-up funding. This should include consideration of whether schools are spending this funding in line with catch up prioritises, and ensuring appropriate transparency for parents.
